In Loving Memory of

Christopher

Zachary

and all the little warriors who fought to be here but unfortunately did not make it.

Each year thousands of babies die before, during or shortly after birth, shattering the lives of expectant parents, their families and their friends.

Global Wave of Light is an annual observance that honors and remembers babies who have died during pregnancy, childbirth, or infancy.

This day serves as a global moment of remembrance for families and individuals who have experienced the loss of a child. Participants around the world light candles and create a wave of light that symbolizes love, support, and remembrance for these precious lives.
